TWO YOUNG WOMEN SLAIN BY THEIR LOVERS.

Mallie Wade, a School-Teacher, Murdered in a Stable by Charles A. Webb.

Her Fiendish Slayer is a Half-Breed Indian and Has So Far Escaped.

Emma Moore Lured From Home by a Jealous Lover and Fatally Stabbed.

Mallie Wade, a 19-year-old teacher in the Dumas School, 1413 Lucas avenue, was lured into a stable in the rear of 2123 Gravois avenue, Thursday night, by her lover, Charles A. Webb, and murdered in cold blood. After committing the fiendish crime the maddened lover fled and left the dead body of his sweetheart lying in a pool of blood on a cot.

The girl's body was found at daylight Friday morning, the alarm was given and a half dozen detectives are now searching for the murderer.

The circumstances surrounding this crime are peculiarly sad.

Miss Wade was a bright and intelligent young girl, the only daughter of Solomon Wade, cook at the Lafayette Park Hotel. Her parents worshiped her as an only daughter who could be worshipped by fond parents. They gave her an excellent education, and only last June she was graduated at the High School.

Mallie Wade, Charles A. Webb and the Scene of the Murder.

Immediately she secured a position as a teacher in the Dumas School, 1413 Lucas avenue, and she won the admiration and respect of every one by her brightness of intellect and pleasant disposition. She taught in this school all last winter, and would have been engaged there again at the opening of the school in the fall.

Miss Wade, while only 19 years old, was bright beyond her years.

She had a fine figure and was sought after in the best class of colored society, owing to her pleasant manner and disposition. She lived with her parents at 1725 Texas avenue, in a comfortable home, on a two-story brick residence.

One day in 1888 Miss Wade met Charles A. Webb. He was tall and slender, with a dark wavy hair and black mustache, and had the olive complexion that he claimed was inherited from Spanish and Indian ancestors. He was a fine-looking youth, for about 18 years old, on St. Vincent avenue. He made love to the pretty schoolma'am, and she demonstrated her reciprocation.

But the father of the girl objected to Webb's attentions to his daughter and warned him to remain away from the house. Then Webb, in the effort to win the two young persons, made clandestinely and continued their lovemaking. Thus they have continued for two years.

Webb is about 25 years old and, it seems, that he uses all the fascinating and hypnotic powers of a black fiend to lure the poor girl to death. He slept in a small stable in the rear of 2123 Gravois avenue.

On the afternoon of Decoration Day he called at the girl's house and took her to the street. Pretty soon she came out again with her hat on and seemed startled when she saw me. I went into the house with her and at the door a black fellow met me and hit me in the face, giving me a black blow. Then I went home and this morning I sent her a note that I was sick. I stabbed her on the impulse of the moment.

Ashe, his name, is a man with a small black mustache, of slim build and rather below medium height. He is rather intelligent. Smith has in her pocket the note written by Ashe, which goes as follows:

MISS VIOLETTA—DEAR MISA: Please come here and see Will. He came here at 3 o'clock and the doctor is here for him.

Ashe is serious as he lies so much. He is unconscious, but calls for you. So come and see him as soon as you can come. He won't talk to anybody. Come right away. Excuse me.

was very abusive. He went away but came back again, and when one of the girls opened the door stabbed her with it. The boy we have had come up and hit him over the nose with a soda water bottle."

Mr. Whitely's rosacea predictions about an international agreement not being far off, and his statement based on personal inquiry, that England, the center of the gold monometallic influence, a sentiment of the people of England in favor of bimetallism is not calculated to give force to the administration policy.

Mr. Whitely obviously desires to be understood as a proponent of the gold monometallic, and his strong hope of the recognition of silver under an international regime is calculated to win him silver friends.

Snow and Winter. Mr. Whitely has spent six months abroad, has observed the growth of bimetallic sentiment in Europe, and his views are therefore accepted as correct.

Although the President has repudiated Secretary Morton's definition of "sound money" as gold monometallic, the inference from Senator Carter's speech is that this is the first of the Democratic Presidential possibilities to talk confidently of the safe maintenance of a double standard in the United States.

Mr. Whitely is not the man-skilful,

DAN DAVENPORT was hot by his mistress, Bertha Thomas, alias Brown, alias Rankin, about midnight, in Eagle's Nest Alley. The ball struck him in the abdomen. It was a glancing shot, however, and did not penetrate the intestines. Dr. Russell, acting Superintendent of the City Hospital, assured him that he would be able to become a target again in two or three days.

Dan is sometimes called Happy Dan from the uniform serenity of his disposition. He is a well-known character in Eagle's Nest circle.

He was the breeder of Coon Poole, and whose recent funeral is a glorious memory for even the most chaste.

Dan completed his course in his bewareness by taking up with Bertha. Bertha turned out to be a "dope fiend" and was caught a few evenings ago in a raid on a bar joint.

Dan, who is a philosopher, concluded that he would not lavish his affections on a prostitute, and that there were many unattached females not given to such indulgence to be had. He says he thought it best to withdraw his protection at once, because he was not in a position to be his acquaintance with her covering only a period of two weeks. He told her of his decision and sent for his clothes. She followed the old man to his room, and he lay down in a alley just where John Jackson was killed full of lead by Al Baltimore a few weeks ago. Dan said he knew she had a bad and mean husband. He sought by honest words to get close to her, his object being to disarm her. She was not to be fooled and decided that she was in danger and share his heart no one else should, she fired.

Then a funny thing happened. Dan, of course, fell, and so did a big black negro named John Jackson, and a negro named Walter made more noise than Dan and insisted that she was morally wounded. He was unable to walk to the ambulance and had to be carried to the end of the alley on a stretcher. He was still in great pain when he reached the dispensary, but his administration said that she was only shot in the mind. There was not a mark on him.

Happy Dan figured in a cutting scrape, soon after, with a negro named Dinah, in which Dinah tried to cut off his face by ginning by removing the upper lip. Dan explains that he drew two more deuces to a pair of them and beat the man's draw of a ace to aces up. Then the trouble began.

having the case put off from court and by forfeiting his strawboard.

In the fall of 1888—Judge William L. Hurst of Wolf County presiding as special Judge—the French and Englehardt forces met in the field of battle, less than 2,000 shots were fired in the fight. The French forces, with Tom Smith in the lead, held on for twenty-four hours.

On the morning of the 25th, Capt. Jake McKnight and Ed Campbell had been killed. Campbell fell from a bullet from Joe David's gun and McKnight was never lost a man. Judge Hurst was given five minutes to leave town by Smith's crew and he left.

As the Englehardt forces were marching toward the town, Capt. John Fields followed closely in their wake, and when about a mile from town they opened fire on Green Mountain. The French and Englehardt forces turned and fled. A bullet from Morris' gun took effect in Jesse Fields' arm, badly fracturing the bone. For this night all the Englehardt forces were captured except that of Smith, who moved to Winchester. Later Smith's case was moved to Pineville, where he was tried, found guilty, and sentenced to the Penitentiary for life. His case was reversed by the Court of Appeals and the indictment finally filed away. The case again went to the Penitentiary, and Capt. Smith was also moved to Pineville, but it has never been tried.

Smith was then sent down in Breathitt County, where there led a life of a libertine and general tough. Last September he went into Jackson one afternoon and began to try to get into the town. When Marshal C. H. Hines, Jr., came down to arrest him, Smith, went to arrest him, and several of his chums opened fire on the officers. They returned the fire promptly, the bullet hitting Capt. Smith in the arm, severing his left arm and shattering the bone into splinters. It also severed an artery and Smith came very near bleeding to death. This was the end of our little story around.

A few weeks before this episode he had become acquainted with Mrs. Katherine McQuinn, whose family were immigrants in the asylum at Lexington. She owned a farm on Quicksand Creek about four miles from Jackson, and Smith went there and got a job as a farm hand.

In February of this year Smith conceived the idea that Dr. J. E. Rader carried a large sum of money on his person. In order to get this money he told Dr. Rader what he wanted to fit to fits and that he wanted the doctor to go out to Mrs. McQuinn's with him to watch his symptoms so that he might know his condition. On the 4th of February he went out to the 4th of February and the next morning his dead body was found on the floor of the McQuinn house with a bullet hole through the heart.

Bon Smith and Mrs. McQuinn were arrested and tried for the crime. The people of Breathitt County had experienced a great deal of trouble on account of the French-Englehardt war, being themselves law-abiding citizens, both of the accused were quickly tried for Dr. Rader's murder. Mrs. McQuinn testified that she had assassinated Rader while he slept, and he testified that Mrs. McQuinn shot him. It seems that each jury believed their testimony, and the two men were condemned to death, while the jury that tried Mrs. McQuinn set her free, but found her guilty. It returned a verdict of guilty and fixed her punishment at imprisonment for life.

VISITED BY MASKED MEN.

Attempt to Extort a Confession From Charles Sherman.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., May 31.—Three masked men called at the home of Chas. Sherman near Buckner, this county, this morning at 1 o'clock for the purpose of extorting from him a confession. Sherman was formerly employed by Mr. W. H. Chicago, who operated a creamery at Buckner. Two weeks ago Hulse left Buckner, owing some $2,000 to farmers in that vicinity. It is claimed that he came to Sherman's apartment, and it is claimed that Sherman was a party to his operations. Hulse was apprehended and the fact that Sherman was connected with him was known to him while in jail caused the farmers to become very angry.

The visit of the masked men last night was the second fatal visit to Sherman's home. The first was made by a gang of Chiles, son of a well-known farmer, was shot in the bowels by Sherman and will probably die. He alleges that he was not in the company of the masked men, but was passing by.

AT ST. PETER'S CHURCH.

The Missouri Branch of the W. A. B. of M. Holds Its Meeting.

The Missouri Branch of the Women's Auxiliary Board of Missions met Friday morning at St. Peter's Church on Lindell boulevard. Not a superfluous word was spoken, everything moved along with parliamentary smoothness and dispatch, so that the members were enabled to dispose of a large amount of business in remarkably short time. After preliminary services, held in Bishop's Hall, the session convened in the body of the church to hear the reports of the various departments of the Missionary Board. The papers showed that the work in the various countries, although it needs some help for the "united offering" to be made at the Woman's Auxiliary, is in the great Thanksgiving service to be held at the Octagon on June 10.

Mrs. D. S. Tuttle, the presiding officer, appealed in eloquent words to those present to devise methods and means to raise the pledged amount.

Mrs. Bishop Tuttle, who has been president of the organization since its existence, was unanimously re-elected. Mrs. E. C. Ewing was elected vice-president, and Mrs. Mary Trippet and Mrs. Ewing White were re-elected secretaries and treasurer respectively.

A large number of guests, including an end Bishop Thompson of Mississippi was introduced and held noon-day services. The meeting then adjourned.

having the case put off from court by forfeiting his stranglehold.

During the trial, Justice L. C. Circuit Court in the fall of 1884—Judge William L. Hurst of Wolf County presiding as special Judge of the French and Eversole factions. On one occasion, Hurst had less than 2,000 shots were fired in his sight. The French forces, with Tom Smith in the lead, held on for twenty-four hours. After the battle was over, it was found that Major Knight, of Elizabethtown, had been killed. Campbell fell from a bullet from Joe Davidson's gun, and McKnight was killed by Tom Smith. The French forces, however, lost a man. Judge Hurst was given minutes to leave town by Smith's crowd, and he left.

The Eversole men were retreating from the field, and the French forces followed closely in their wake, and when about a mile from town they opened fire on Green Morris and Jack Francis. The two fleeing men were shot down, and the bullet which hit Francis' gun took effect in Jesse Fields' arm, badly fracturing the bone. For this fight all the Eversole and French people engaged in it were killed. The body of Major Knight, of Smith, moved to Winchester. Later Smith's case was moved to Pineville, where he was tried, found guilty and sentenced to the penitentiary for life. His case was reversed by the Court of Appeals and the indictment finally fled away. The case against him for the murder of Robert Campbell was also sent to Pineville, but it has not been tried.

Smith then went down in Breathitt County and there led the life of a tramp and gambler. One summer he went into Jackson one afternoon and began to try to run the town. When Marshal H. C. Hunt, of Jackson, and his deputy, Samuel Gandy, went to arrest him, his revolver and his chum opened fire on the officers. They returned the fire promptly, the bullet from Marshall Hunt's pistol hitting a left arm and passing through the body to spinners, at also severed an artery and Smith came very near bleeding to death. This was the first and only time he was ever wounded.

A few weeks before this episode, he had become acquainted with Mrs. Katherine McQuinn, whose husband, Mrs. McQuinn, was incarcerated in the asylum at Lexington. She was a daughter of Quisenberry Creek, about four miles from Jackson, and Smith went there and lived with her in open adultery. In the course of time she became tired of the idea that Dr. J. E. Rader carried a large sum of money in his person. In order to get this money, he told Dr. Rader that he was going to his office that night, and the doctor to go out to Mrs. McQuinn's with him and watch his symptoms, so that he might know how to treat the case. Rader went to the office, and when he got there the next morning his dead body was found on the floor of the McQuinn house with a bullet hole through his heart.

Dr. Rader and Mrs. McQuinn were arrested and tried for the crime. The people of Breathitt County had experienced a great deal of trouble on account of the French forces, who were known to themselves law-abiding citizens, both of the accused were quickly tried for Dr. Rader's murder. Mrs. McQuinn testified that Smith assassinated Rader, while he also said he testified that Mrs. McQuinn shot him. It seems that each jury believed their testimony, for the twelve men who tried Smith were unanimous in their verdict that he was guilty, and his punishment should be death, while the jury that tried Mrs. McQuinn was out but a few minutes and fixed her punishment at imprisonment for life.

VISITED BY MASKED MEN.

Attempt to Extort a Confession From Charles Sherman.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.
INDEPENDENCE, Mo., May 31.—Three masked men called at the home of Chas. Sherman near Buckner, this county, this morning about 1 o'clock for the purpose of extorting from him a confession. Sherman was formerly employed by J. M. Huise of Chicago, who operated a grocery business. Two weeks ago Huise left Buckner, owing some $2,000 to farmers in that vicinity. His disappearance caused intense excitement, and it was suspected that he was a party to his operations. Huise was apprehended and the fact that Sherman was constantly in communication with him while he was caused the farmers to become very angry.

The visit of the masked men last night was probably a result of this anger. A child of well-known fame, who was shot in the bowels by Sherman and will probably die. He alleges that he was not in the party of masked men, but was passing by.

AT ST. PETER'S CHURCH.

The Missouri Branch of the W. A. B. of M. Holds Its Meeting.

The Missouri Branch of the Women's Auxiliary Board of Missions met Friday morning at St. Peter's Church on Lindell boulevard. Not a superfluous word was spoken, everything moving along with parliamentary smoothness and rapidity. It was shown that the members were enabled to dispose of a large amount of business in a remarkably short time. After preliminary services held by Bishop Tuttle, the ladies conversed with the world, and turned to the concerns of the various departments of the Missionary Board. The papers showed that the board is in a flourishing condition, although it needs help from the "united offering" to make up the women's auxiliary at the great Thanksgiving service to be held next October in Minneapolis. Mrs. D. S. Scott, president of the auxiliary, had words to those present to devise methods and means to raise the pledged amount of $1,000.

Bishop Tuttle, who has been president of the organization since its existence, was unanimously re-elected. Mrs. E. C. Simmons was chosen to succeed herself as vice-president, and Miss Mary C. Chapman and Mrs. Ewing White were re-elected secretary and treasurer respectively.

After the business meeting came to an end Bishop Thompson of Mississippi was introduced to the day-day services. The meeting then adjourned.

YOUNG LADIES' TROUBLE.

FACTS MADE KNOWN TO FRIENDS

Lady Stenographers, Typewriters, and All Working Girls Interested.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

This class of women are more or less afflicted with illness brought on by constant strain in one position. Therefore all will be interested in the candid expression of this bright young lady of Denver, Col., who writes Mrs. Pinkham as follows:

"This is the first opportunity I have found to write and thank you for the good your Company has done me. I feel better than I have for years. It seems a seven days' wonder to my friends. Where I used to be pitied, everything is the opposite, and there is not a day but what some one wants to know what I have done to work such a wonder."

"Before taking the Compound I had constant headache, was constipated; bloated; eyes weak, with watery whites; bearing down pains; pains in the small of my back and right side; took cold very easily, which always caused intense pain in ovaries. I did not want to go anywhere or see any one."

"I was called cross, but I could not rest it, feeling as I did. I could not lift anything or do any hard work without suffering for days afterward. Menstruation lasted from eight to ten days, the first two or three days being in almost constant pain, day and night.

" Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made a new girl of me; am now well, happy, and strong." Yours truly, A STENOGRAPHER, Denver, Col.

THE JEFFERSON CLUB OPENED.

New Democratic Politico-Social Organization.

YOUNG DEMOCRACY'S CHILD.

Origin, Aims and Scope of a Club for Young Men Which Will Stand for Purity in Politics.

The twenty or thirty leading spirits of the reorganized Jefferson Club have taken decisive action under a conviction they reached two months ago that politics must be served dilute between campaigns.

Thursday night the club formally opened its new club-house at 3023-3024 Olive street, and signified its intention to carry on a work of social agitation of political questions for educational purposes.

The Jefferson Club will not cultivate socially or seek to educate politically any who do not wish to be cultivated and educated, and what is more, it is not going to cultivate nor seek to educate all comers indiscriminately.

President Ben H. Charles was accorded the first applause of the evening when, in welcoming guests and members over the threshold of the club's new home, he said:

"The club is here to serve the public, and for purity in elections, and those who believe in any other kind of politics, and any other sort of elections, are not wanted here."

Most St. Louisans know about Young Democracy, out of which grew the present organization—how it was founded three years ago, how it has been successful in spreading Democratic principles; how, at first, they took no part in the practical administration of partisan politics, but contented themselves with agitating educational questions, how they gradually entered upon a campaign of education, of students of political economy, and how, at length they grew bold enough to enter the field of politics, the organization of the party in the city, a plan for reorganization and reconstruction, that is now in the way to adoption. And, following out a similar course here, the last State campaign—that of conducting a "Quiz" or question feature at the close of the public meetings arranged by the club, the problem being to find an educational Bureau the year around was presented for solution. But how to get pupils—interested pupils—was the question, and this difficulty was met and overcome, when the new club-house was dedicated duly opened at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

The building is that which has now for the Old Hill School, which has now outgrown it. It has been handsomely decorated, carpeted and furnished anew throughout. There is no one hall, but four luxuriant rooms for club men of refined tastes. The fitting of the club house will, when completed in all appointments, have cost $3,000 a month, while the club will have social uses from 12 noon to 12 midnight, with hours for ladies, when accompanied by members of the club, on Tuesdays and Saturdays, for whom, probably, the present annual dues will be $5 a year.

About 400 members and guests were present at Thursday night's opening. They were received and welcomed by President

WON'T RIDE SHANKS' MARE.

Bryan Hill School Teachers Went to Their Picnic in Street Cars.

Is walking healthy? Some teachers at the Bryan Hill School on John Avenue, near Tenth street, claim that it is not.

Friday was picnic day for the pupils and teachers and O'Fallon Park was the scene of the outing. The "Citizens' Committee," otherwise known as the North St. Louis Citizens' Club, had charge of the affair, and they mapped out line of march covering several miles more or less. They went further, and had marshals' badges printed, and was presented to each teacher with the instruction to have the pupils in their respective rooms kept rank. Nothing was said until the line of march was known to the teachers and then there was decided kick.

It was a vigorous outburst against the gentlemen who aid the torture upon them if the line of march had led them direct to 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

The building is that which has now for the Old Hill School, which has now outgrown it. It has been handsomely decorated, carpeted and furnished anew throughout. There is no one hall, but four luxuriant rooms for club men of refined tastes. Fight Over a Building Line.

Realty Agents and Property Owners in West Belle place are at present engaged in a litigation regarding the building line of a proposed structure. Since it has been a stipulation in the conveyance of property in Belle place that houses should be set back thirty feet, Mr. Loring R. Hayes, real estate agent, is leading in the fight to keep the old line. It is alleged Mrs. H. Miltenberger has contracted with Englehardt & Schleckamp, engineers, of Chicago, on the corner of Bell and Newstead avenues, on the line of the street.

Suit was brought Thursday against Mrs. Miltenberger to prevent her from erecting the dwelling over the building line.

The dwelling was repaired in a short time and the car went on its way.

Six Persons En Route to the Depot Run Into by a Car.

Six guests of the Southern Hotel, bound for the Union Station, were rattled about in a St. Louis Transfer Co. omnibus at Ninth and Walnut streets Thursday night in a box.

Union Depot motor car No. 219 on the California line came sweeping down Clark avenue about 8:30 a.m. but when it struck the cross tracks on Twelfth street something happened. There was a rattling among the wires overhead, the trolley flew up in the air and down on the car's broad back fell a spring, striking live wire.

While it struck the top of the car it began curling up and dancing around like a frightened snake. The wood began to burn and smoke, which was soon extinguished with electricity. The people inside were terribly alarmed. Most of them ran screaming out the front and back ends, but one little girl ran right out without notice onto the granite blocks in the street. No one was shocked the conductor, and the car went on its way.

SHAKEN UP IN A BUS.

Six Persons En Route to the Depot Run Into by a Car.

Six guests of the Southern Hotel, bound for the Union Station, were rattled about in a St. Louis Transfer Co. omnibus at Ninth and Walnut streets Thursday night in a box.

Union Depot motor car No. 219 on the California line came sweeping down Clark avenue about 8:30 a.m. but when it struck the cross tracks on Twelfth street something happened. There was a rattling among the wires overhead, the trolley flew up in the air and down on the car's broad back fell a spring, striking live wire.

While it struck the top of the car it began curling up and dancing around like a frightened snake. The wood began to burn and smoke, which was soon extinguished with electricity. The people inside were terribly alarmed. Most of them ran screaming out the front and back ends, but one little girl ran right out without notice onto the granite blocks in the street. No one was shocked the conductor, and the car went on its way.

JAPAN BUYS COTTON.

Facts Which Explain the Heavy Purchases at New Orleans.

NEW YORK. May 31.—The desire of Japan to take every advantage of her triumphal war may have an important effect on the cotton market. The industry of the United States and Japan has been to buy raw cotton in the South to be shipped by way of San Francisco. To those who know the previous relations of Japan to the cotton industry, it is evident that the purchases of Japan and the United States still closer.

Mr. Hashizukuchi, Japanese Consul General in New York, is enthusiastic over the prospect that the cotton of the South will assume a prominent place in the cotton markets of Japan and the United States still closer. In the reports from the Cotton Exchange in New York will be found some summary of the cotton market at the steady buying at New Orleans. The bulls at that port have been very active. New Orleans has been a great center of cotton purchases. The influences that affect the cotton market are many and various, but a new and complicated motive has been added by the war. Many observers think that the news that we are desirous of obtaining American cotton from the South may explain a good many phenomena which have bewildered those who have watched the cotton market recently.

Fear Floods in Colorado.

A PROFESSOR'S WORDS.

Some of the "Seasonable Habits" of People Criticised.

DO YOU HAVE THEM?

Certain Hints That Cannot Fail to be of Great Value to Intelligent Readers.

(Horrid.)

I overheard a remark made by a prominent professor at the Club the other evening which greatly impressed me. He said in substance:

"Why do people try to tone up their systems, 'purify the blood,' at this season of the year? Is it not largely habit? The blood undergoes changes every day of the life, and if people could only see that by keeping the head clear, the liver vigorous and the kidneys active, their blood would, of course, be pure all the time, they would save much care and annoyance."

"You evidently do not believe in Spring blood purifiers, doctor?" I ventured to ask him.

"Certainly not. Keep the body in the condition I have described and no man or woman will need any purifier. I have seen a great deal of life and understand the needs of people, and I don't hesitate to state to you that if overworked men, weak women and even plump children would keep the kidneys and liver healthy, they would not be sick or need any blood purifiers. I will go farther and state that the use of that greatest of modern discoveries, Warner's Safe Cure, will do this in every case and at all seasons, and hence prevent all the spring annoyances of which we hear so much."

I think the doctor is right. I certainly know from my own experience that the headaches, drowsiness and run down condition which I have often attributed to my blood, arose from no other cause than that my liver kidneys were out of order. I am pleased to say, however, that I now experience any trouble of this kind for a number of years and do not practice it for number of years to come, so long as I understand what I do now and realize that there is no great remedy within my reach.

NOT PAQUIN PATIENTS.

Three Consumptives Die at the City Hospital in One Night.

Three deaths from consumption at the City Hospital Wednesday night prompted a Post-Dispatch reporter to inquire if the patients had been treated with Dr. Paquin's serum. The three cases in question had never received the treatment, but there are now in the consumptive ward of the hospital four cases which were treated with the serum, one a well advanced case. These four patients are doing well, although they have not been treated with the serum regularly at any time, and not at all since the new administration went in.

Dr. Paquin, the new Superintendent, has written to Dr. Dinsbeer, asking if he intends to continue his serum treatment, but has not yet heard from him. If the serum treatment is to be discontinued it will have to embrace all cases, just as they come, and is to be continued at least a year or two, not as heretofore, for a few months only. Dr. Dinsbeer asks, "What is the best way can its efficiency be tested, and if Dr. Paquin elects to give it, he will have plenty of opportunity."

The Greatest Race at the Fair Grounds To-Morrow.

TEN PROBABLE STARTERS.

Clifford, Faraday and Henry Young Seem to Have the Call With Lamp lighter a Dangerous Factor.

The Club Members' Handicap at one and one-quarter miles with its $8,000 added money, the most valuable stake of the meeting, will be run at the Fair Grounds to-morrow. Thirteen horses accepted the weights allotted them, but Fred Foster declared yesterday that he would not start Dr. Rice and it is thought that Bob Holloway will not start Pocahontas, relying alone on the gray horse, Faraday. Linda also may be scratched. This brings the field down to ten and of these the certain starters are the three horses mentioned above. King Elm, Linda and Trenor, who will be sold Saturday and Sunday, are four partners in the Hot Springs Stable. The others are Messrs. Walker, Chambers and Dugan. McGuigan is disheartened at the crowd he has attracted to regarding the alleged hand-out scandal at Memphis regarding the fact," said Mr. McGuigan, "but I am one of the most valuable stable hands in the Western circuit. It would seem foolish for me to scratch with my horses. I can get the money by racing them and it would be a very unsafe thing to my pocket to anything else. In connection with the claim that he is under contract to the track, he said, "I want to give him a chance. He will never amount to anything unless he is given the opportunity and I can't expect others to develop him. I am not afraid of him." He will not race again until the 10th of June.

I can get the money by racing them and it would be a very unsafe thing to my pocket to anything else. In connection with the claim that he is under contract to the track, he said, "I want to give him a chance. He will never amount to anything unless he is given the opportunity and I can't expect others to develop him. I am not afraid of him." He will not race again until the 10th of June.

William McGuigan, the Hot Springs Partner, is at Oak.

WILL IT ANSWER THE DEMAND?

SITUATION WHICH CONFRONTS THE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE.

Although the Democratic State Central Committee meets at the Southern Saturday morning at 10 o'clock to decide whether it will call a convention to give the Democrats a chance to express their views on the silver question, only two of the committeemen are in the city to-day. The other two members of the committee, a capitalist, one of the committeemen who "don't want a convention, nohow," and J. B. Thomas of Albany, who doesn't want a convention, are here helping to "keep the masses" in line. He confesses that he is not familiar with "the masses."

Chairman Maffitt is sick Friday with a bilious attack, so he is down town, but expects to be out by the time the committee meets.

When the committee meets it will be confronted with this situation. The party is practically unanimously opposed to a State convention. But as a whole and individually it knows that the Democrats of the State are in a position either to bow to the storm or to stand up against it and be capsized will be the main point of debate. From sources which present a picture of the party's reorganization that the chances all are that the conciliatory policy will be adopted. This is further said, does not mean Col. Carroll, the chairman of the committee, the committee the laughing stock of the State, and for the sake of its own dignity no one believes that the committee will meet it.

The fact that Committeeman Farris out of forty-seven repudiated from chairman of county committee has received forty in favor of his Committee, and the committee willing or unwilling, will also, it is believed, have its effect. It is generally understood that many more of the chairmen would be in line with Farris.

It is also said that the committee will not be able to give the State Convention a chance first. If the committee should fail to call a convention within a reasonable time, it is believed that the party will be split.

REORGANIZATION DEFERRED.

New United Elevator Officers Will Not Be Selected Until Monday.

The directors of the St. Louis United Elevator Co. spent on hour in session Friday morning, but failed to put through the contemplated reorganization. The meeting was chiefly given over to a discussion of the proposed change in the office of president and secretary was discussed and, according to one of the officers, appointed Isaac Isaacs as president.

Officer Dowd said Mrs. George claimed that Osborne was rooming in her house, going about for his board and lodgings, and he attempted to ascertain where George's husband is said to be in the Government employ. Mrs. George looked up and said, "He is in the Government service." When asked if he was a government employee, she said, "Yes." We're talking about the genuine stuffs now—the kind that other dealers don't blush to proclaim as bargains at $22.50 and $25. These suits are what good dressers are looking for, and are in single and double-breasted sacks, medium or long cut frocks, in Imported Worsts, Cheviots and Serges in solid colors and fancy mixtures. All colors, all shades, all mixtures, all sizes. Suits as near perfection as it is possible to make them. Men who are judges of good clothing are especially invited to examine these suits most critically. We want them to note the linings and trimmings as well as the cloths, we want them to see the carefully sewed seams, the painstakingly silk stitched buttonholes and the finish of each garment. If you don't find them up to your highest expectations we don't expect you to buy.
